Harrison-Albany Plan

The Harrison-Albany Corridor Strategic Plan completed in June 2012 outlined new zoning regulations for Planned Development Areas (PDAs). Related to added height and density for PDA projects, the Plan requires certain community benefits such as affordable commercial and/or cultural space. Article 64 of the Boston Zoning Code was updated in 2012 to reflect the Harrison-Albany Corridor Strategic Plan.

Article 64 Sections 29 and 41 Review
As currently outlined in the Harrison-Albany Corridor Strategic Plan and in Article 64 Section 29, the Proponent of any Proposed Project within a Planned Development Area (PDA) devoting any amount of Gross Floor Area to Non-Residential Uses must construct or cause the construction of either:

- 5% of bonus square footage for a cultural entity or start-up business whose eligibility for the program is to be determined by the BPDA, or

- A combination of 2.5% of bonus square footage for a cultural entity or start-up business and an equivalent additional contribution to the Harrison/Albany Corridor Business and Cultural Loan Fund administered by the Boston Local Development Corporation (BLDC)
Current Article 64 Section 41

Article 64 Section 41 describes the eligibility requirements for affordable cultural space as:

- a 501c3 organization that has received funding from the Massachusetts Cultural Council within five years prior to occupancy, or whose cultural use has been determined by the Authority to meet the City's goals for creative economy.
Why is the Amendment Necessary?

The BPDA’s aim is to “right-size” the zoning so that affordable cultural space is available to a larger number of groups. The existing zoning does not adequately do this for a few reasons:

- 5% of bonus square footage provides cultural space that is often too big for the needs of small cultural groups.
- The Boston Local Development Corporation (BLDC) is not legally permitted to manage funds related to cultural entities.
- Massachusetts Cultural Council funding is a high threshold for many cultural organizations that the zoning code originally aimed to support.

Article 64 Amendments

The amendments to Article 64 Sections 29 and 41 make 2 strategic moves:

- Names the Mayor’s Office of Arts and Culture as the entity responsible for administering funds related to affordable cultural spaces

- Changes the eligibility requirement to those 501c3 organizations that have received Boston Cultural Council funding in the last five years prior to occupancy
