PLAN: Mattapan is a planning process facilitated by the Boston Planning and Development Agency (BPDA), in collaboration with other City departments.

Join your neighbors at the PLAN: Mattapan City Resource Fair. Through the first two PLAN: Mattapan workshops, we heard that residents wanted to be better connected to City resources. This resource fair is one of several opportunities to connect with existing programs, resources, and support that these departments provide. Come to hear updates from the BPDA and other City departments about their ongoing work in Mattapan and learn about the City resources that are available to you and your community.

The fair will begin with a short presentation from the BPDA with updates from the last two community workshops. There will also be an opportunity for questions and comments as a large group. The remainder of the time will be dedicated to allowing community members to connect with the City departments present. Representatives that will be attending work with issues related to housing, workforce development, transportation, arts & culture, and open space. A full list of participating departments can be found on our website: <http://bit.ly/PlanMattapan>

Light refreshments will be provided. Interpretation services and translated materials will be available in Haitian Creole and Spanish.
