00:16:07 Sandra Aleman Nijjar: It would be good to take advantage of part of this important space for the East Boston community kitchen because there has been work done with effort and determination for many years by the community in food security and care, connecting services for the most vulnerable people in society, and it would be good to extend and improve the services provided by operating every day to cover a larger population and avoid long lines. It is also good for the city that people like homeless people have a space to leave the parks and public roads generating a negative aspect in the community, and most importantly, try to reintegrate them into society so that they get out of that type of life.

Totally agree 👍 Dr. @Dr. Neenah Estrella-Luna

00:36:22 Evelyn Estrada: I want to advocate for The East Boston Community Soup Kitchen organization to have a space at the former A7 Boston police station the EBCSK provides and takes care of the most vulnerable people in our community we provide all kinds of services services to our clients every week. The level of food insecurity in our community has increased over the years and it continues to this day we need a bigger location to expand our services and reach more people. The soup kitchen would greatly benefit from having the former A7 Boston police station be it's new home we would benefit from it's accessible location were our clients can have easy access we would also have more capacity to accommodate more clients if we were to have a bigger space for us to conduct our food pantry, hot meal service and many other activities and services we currently provide on a weekly basis the possibilities are endless if we were to have a space in the former A7 Boston police building

+1 To making the space a community space that is shared by multiple organizations that serve the community.

I'm however hesitant, maybe even oppose, the expansion of the court house? Maybe an open community conference room that can be booked by lawyers when needed, but I don't think it should be just for the courthouse

00:52:47 Moises Rodriguez: Hello, my name is Moises Rodriguez. I am a member of Community Center workers of hope , and I truly appreciate these spaces where we can learn about and contribute to the future of our neighborhoods. I believe the role of a Real Estate Development Officer is crucial in ensuring that urban development projects not only support economic growth but also meet the real needs of the community. I strongly believe that dedicating this building for community use would be a great opportunity. There are various nonprofits, cooperatives, grassroots groups, and community organizations that could make productive use of the space to serve and uplift local residents. That's why it's essential that this process remains transparent, inclusive, and centered on ongoing dialogue with the people directly impacted—especially when it comes to affordable housing, access to public services, and preserving the cultural fabric of the neighborhood. Thank you.

00:57:26 Nora Carroll: Given the work at the Police Station and how residents have interacted with the space over the decades I think there is a need for Trauma Informed Design to ensure it is being designed in a way to help reach our community members in a safe and respectful way. I love hearing of the collaborative efforts by our orgs here and hope they are given the opportunity to design this space. I have seen firsthand the impact EBCSK has had.

00:57:28 Matthew Barison: Love the idea of services being integrated in the existing, (or a new) courthouse/community services center.

00:58:38 Rita Lara: THANK YOU EDUARDO 🙏🙏🙏🙏🙏

00:59:36 Kathy Henriquez: Thanks for the insight on the abundance of space. I never went to the space before so knowing that there is abundance of space for mix use usage is great. Eastie is filled with organizations, coalitions, service providing orgs, and more that would be dope to have them all in one space.

What a great use to go from a place that maybe wasn't welcoming to most to a place that would be welcoming, filled with resources and places to connect among neighbors

01:23:17 Tara Saulnier: Hi! I'm a former Eastie resident and a current volunteer with EBCSK. (Apologies—I need to update Zoom and can't use the 'raise hand' feature.)

I just want to echo what everyone's saying about EBCSK. I've been doing deliveries for them since earlier this year, and one of the biggest challenges is getting the food into my car due to the lack of space and parking.

Despite that, the team runs the operation incredibly well—they manage the limited resources and space at truly heroic levels. I've volunteered with many organizations, and I've never seen one more organized or more focused on directly helping people.

I believe EBCSK would add tremendous value to any community space they're part of. And I think Eastie, where I've seen so much community space lost since I lived there, would benefit from having more, not less.

I just want to emphasize the need for a shared community space that is community owned. Several of our neighbors and community leaders have testified to how much they have done for the community with limited resources and temporary and borrowed spaces. I think what we've heard tonight not just speaks to the great need for a shared community space (with shared community governance), but also to the incredible impact this kind of space would have on the community. Having a permanent community space would amplify the impact and services community organizations have already had.

01:28:39 Madeleine Steczynski: I want to share my support for the idea of this building being a shared use community space. The EBCSK needs a permanent home, and many of the other amazing orgs here (CCDS, EBAG, VROCC, Eastie Coalition Youth) do to! It will be important to look at this project through a development lens, so the end result actually enables each organization to have accessible, affordable, stable space. It is expensive to develop facilities, so there needs to be strong financial analysis and creative ways of making this project successful for all!
